Welcome,

2020 has been a challenging year in ways we could not have anticipated. While it is a reminder that we are bound together more than ever, it also calls for our strong solidarity and collective efforts as we build a more resilient and inclusive future.

If you are like us, driven by the genuine goal of making the world a better place, engaging in respectful debates that value the power of diverse perspectives to solve global challenges, then this is absolutely for you.

I once established this annual international economic summit to convene leaders, shakers and change makers from across the globe to share in and inspire each other with problem solving discussions that shape and transform our society. I am thrilled to cordially invite you to join me and many other fantastic leaders.

Let's together be the catalysts for change through an action-driven knowledge sharing and networking. In our today's world, the power of connection has never been so important.

RESILIENT LEADERSHIP AND GOVERNANCE IN UNCERTAIN TIMES

The pandemic has broken up everything we know and thought as “the normal”. At the same time, it presents a new way to view the world and a unique chance to build it back better, together, to ensure a sustainable and inclusive progress. Let’s discuss among others the following topics and issues.

- The new reality of geopolitics, society and democracy in a post-pandemic world
- The future of globalization and global cooperation
- The need to build more resilience to navigate uncertainties and crisis
- Women’s leadership and role in the global economic recovery

CLIMATE CHANGE, HEALTH AND FOOD SUSTAINABILITY

While the coronavirus has cut the global carbon emissions, let us not lose sight that climate change is still a real threat to human health and environment. In fact, the health crisis only strengthens the urgent need to address climate change and its various impacts including food insecurity.

- How do we advance human health and food systems under a changing climate?
- Green and circular economy: Opportunities emerging from the Covid outbreak
- How do we tackle infectious diseases that continue to be a significant threat?
- What solutions does technology bring to global healthcare?

Sustainable Solutions for Cities and Mobility of the Future

The world population is growing, and two-third is projected to live in urban areas by 2050. Although urbanisation has its advantages, the demographic development and the economic growth are interacting adversely with environmental quality and natural resources.

- How can we meet the needs of the growing urban population in terms of housing, transportation, and energy?
- Can alternative transport like flying taxis positively transform the urban mobility?
- What potential does the circular economy bring for sustainable cities?
- How can 5G, big data and IoT shape the future of smart cities?
